PADDLE RAISE

Funds will support Wild Acadia: Addressing Acadia's Most Pressing Challenge

While Acadia's landscape has always been changing, the pace of change has accelerated, and uncertainty has increased. That's why Friends of Acadia is partnering with the National Park Service to take action now.

The Wild Acadia initiative 2.0 is helping to restore important park habitats, but with an innovative forward-thinking approach to managing for future expected environmental conditions rather than looking to the past. Acadia's work has garnered national attention. With your help, we can build on that momentum by supporting restoration on Acadia's summits, supporting efforts at the Bass Harbor Marsh to remove invasive glossy buckthorn and prevent recolonizing, and enhance the park's work at the Great Meadow to improve the resilience and species diversity of the park's largest wetland.
